WEST VIRGINIA ELECTION.

5,000 Republican Majority.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WHEELING, West Va., October 27.—The Intelligencer of this morning publishes returns from thirty-three counties, the majority of which are official, showing a Republican majority of 4,054. The twenty remaining counties to hear from are small and sparsely settled, and it states gave a net Republican majority of nearly a thousand in 1866.

WHEELING, W. Va., October 27—10 P. M.—Returns from forty counties give a net Republican majority of 4,610. The remaining thirteen counties in 1866 cast 2,594 votes and gave a Republican majority of 609. The majority in the State will fall but little, if any, below 5,000. Two years ago it was 6,662, and last year 2,800. The news from the Third District insures the election of Witcher, Republican, by near 1,000 majority. The Republicans of Wheeling fired a salute to-day in honor of the victory in the State.

Death of an Old Citizen—Taxables vs. Population—Arrest—Financial—Strike.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, October 27.—Charles J. Wolbert, a prominent citizen, and one of our oldest auctioneers, died here last evening.

There are one hundred and sixty-two thousand taxables in this city, which would indicate a population of nearly a million.

Engene Leathan, who has in a few months obtained goods and money upon forged checks to the amount of ten thousand dollars, in this city, has been arrested and is fully identified. He hails from the West.

The pinch in the money market is considered as passed. Our bank statement shows that although the reserve has been tapped in the past week, yet it is fully up to the requirements of the law.

Five hundred operatives in woolen mills in this city struck to-day against the reduction of fifteen per cent. on their wages.

Episcopal National Convention.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, October 27, 1868.

In the Episcopal Convention to-day, Mr. Welsh stated that the House of Bishops would be unable to conclude their business in time to adjourn on Wednesday, and therefore suggested the Convention continue in session until Friday. No action taken.

The Committee on Canons reported against changing the title of clerical and lay deputies, which was accepted.

The Committee on Canons also reported in favor of the liberty of interpretation of the Prayer Book and against any change in the time of probation of applicants for holy orders. Reports accepted.

Another message was received from the House of Bishops, announcing that they had adopted the translation of the Prayer Book into the German, French and Swedish languages. House concurred.

The House concurred in the resolution favoring the publication of a standard book of Common Prayer.

Rev. Milo Mahon, of Maryland, for the Joint Committee on the Russo-Greek Church, which was appointed by the Convention of 1862, and continued by that of 1865, submitted an interesting report, which was read.

The report terminated with a resolution continuing the same committee, with instructions to report again to the Convention of 1871. The report was accepted and the resolution carried.

Rev. Dr. Littlejohn submitted a long report of the work performed by the Board of Missions during the past three years.

The work among the children of the Church has been eminently successful, fifty-five hundred having been gathered into the missionary association. The receipts from this source have amounted to eighty-seven thousand dollars.

The Committee on Canons reported a resolution declaring that until the collection of hymns be revised it shall be lawful to sing any hymns from the books known as hymns ancient and modern, and hymns for church and home, with the consent of the Bishop of the diocese. The report was adopted.

The Convention took up the Majority and Minority reports of the Committee on Canons on the subject of Ritualism. The church was densely crowded and the debate listened to with deep interest. Judge Conyngham opened the debate in the negative, and was followed by Judge Otis, of Illinois, and Mr. S. B. Ruggles, of this city, in the affirmative.

The Campaign in Beaver County—The New Brighton Demonstration—Imposing Procession—Brighton, Beaver Falls, Sharon, Bridgewater, Beaver, Fallston and Rochester in a Blaze of Light for Grant and Colfax.

[Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW BRIGHTON, October 27—Midnight.

The New Brighton demonstration was a perfect success in every respect. Fully one thousand members of the Grant and Tanner Clubs of Pittsburgh, Allegheny and Sewickley were in attendance and contributed largely to the brilliancy of the procession. The Allegheny County delegation, under command of Capt. W. B. Cook, was received everywhere with cheers. The route, necessarily, was very long, and it was past midnight when the procession halted at Rochester. Altogether there were probably nineteen hundred men in the ranks. Brighton, Beaver Falls, Sharon, Bridgewater, Fallston, Rochester and Beaver were gorgeously illuminated. The procession did not pass through Beaver, much to the disappointment of the loyal residents of that town, who had made such liberal decorations wherewith to honor the occasion. Upon the whole the procession was beyond doubt the most brilliant and spirited affair ever witnessed in this part of the State, and cannot fail to help on the cause of Grant and Colfax in November.

[A more particular account of the imposing demonstration, with a notice of the decorations, will be published in to-morrow's GAZETTE, from our own reporter.]

NATIONAL ADDRESS.

Address of the Republican National Committee.

THE APPROACHING ELECTION.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, October 27.—The Republican National Committee have issued the following address:

NEW YORK, October 28, 1868.

FELLOW CITIZENS: On the third of November you are to register a decision at the ballot box, which will control the Government for the next four years, and affect the destinies of our country for all time. The Democratic party, entering into the campaign with practical repudiation on its banners and a determination to open the question of reconstruction by declaring all acts relating thereto void, has met signal defeat in the States holding elections in October. Aroused by the positive condemnation of its policy, it now seeks to change its candidates and to deny its purposes as declared in its platform. Be not deceived. The men who met in New York on the 4th of July knew what they intended to do, if they could carry the election to inspire their followers in the South and their friends and sympathisers at the North. They published their purpose to the world. On this declaration they went into the canvass, and although they have tried to explain away its full meaning, they never denied it until beaten at the polls. No change of candidates can change their purpose. They mean to take from an enfranchized race its only safeguard—the ballot. They mean to repudiate the National debt, incurred at a time of the greatest danger to the nation, or at least pay it in a manner which will tarnish the national credit and make the great Republic a shame to honest men and a byword in the financial circles of the world. The Presidential candidate of the Democracy declares his purpose will be to hold Congress in check for four years to come as Andrew Johnson has for four years past, and thus stand in his position. Fellow-citizens, the country wants peace; it has enough opposition from the Executive to the Legislative Department. The people will elect both, and mean to have harmony and good-will between them. The loss of the States holding elections in October has shown the Democratic leaders that they can hope to carry no Northern State. In desperation they call upon the people to come to the rescue. They place Mr. Seymour on the stump and meditate the withdrawal of Mr. Blair, who has too openly and boldly proclaimed their true aims and purpose, and tardily say they mean peace and obedience to the laws, but the spirit that really animates them may be seen in the attempts to carry the elections by frauds on a gigantic scale at the North, and by intimidation, violence and murder at the South. We appeal to the people who stood by the Union in its darkest hours, whose faith has never faltered, who have never believed the war a failure, or that those who stimulated the rebellion are proper persons to administer the goverument they sought to destroy, And we ask them to rally once more, and by an overwhelming majority show the Democratic party and the world that there is no hope for the Lost Cause. No one doubts the patriotism of General Grant. He has already announced his desire for peace. This is no idle word. His election will be the guaranty of harmony in the different departments, of energy, of economy in its administration, of safety in person and property to the citizen everywhere, and boundless prosperity following in the train of peace.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

SENATOR MORTON'S SPEECH.

Seymour's Financial Hobby Reviewed.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

INDIANAPOLIS, October 27.—Governor Morton delivered the following speech to-night in reply to the speeches of Governor Seymour:

Fellow-citizens: Mr. Seymour presents the novel and painful spectacle of a candidate for the Presidency, the highest office in the gift of a free people, going about like a common stump orator electioneering for himself and assailing the character and positions of his opponents. Two years ago Mr. Johnson swung around the circle for the ostensible purpose of laying the corner-stone of a monument to the lamented Douglass in Chicago. Mr. Seymour is making his swing, not for such a professed purpose, but as we believe is really engaged in laying the corner stone of the tomb of the Democratic party. The result of the late elections in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana has called him forth from his rural retreat in New York, and he is making a last and desperate effort to retrieve the fallen fortune of a decayed, disloyal and dishonored party. The great object which he seems to have in view in all the speeches which he has made since he started on his tour is to array the Western against the Eastern States, to excite the people of the Northwest to hostility towards the people of what he calls the Northern Atlantic States. New Yorker as he is, eastern man as he is, he does not hesitate to slander his section and the people of his own State, to represent that as the enemies commercially, financially and socially of the people of the Northwestern States. The people of New York, to whom he owes his official dignities and all that he is, are represented by him as oppressing the people of the northwestern States, extorting from them, robbing and plundering them at every point. For many years the politicians of the South labored to excite their people against the North, and their labors finally resulted in rebellion. For years it has been the policy of the Democratic party of Indiana and other northwestern States to denounce New England and arouse the prejudices of our people against the people of that portion of our country. This was the staple of Democratic argument throughout the war, and the leading men of that party in Indiana hinted broadly at a Northwestern Confederacy, and that New England should be left out in the cold. And now we have an Eastern politician, a candidate for office, endeavoring by every means in his power to excite the people of the Northwest against the people even of his own State. Among the charges which he brings against the Government is, that the national debt is sectional in its character, that it was not contracted in the several States according to their population, but that most of the money was borrowed from Eastern States. It is hard to refrain from calling this complaint absurd. Just as if Congress could borrow money in States where the people had little or none to lend, and refuse to borrow money in other States where they had plenty of it to lend. He says that by this improper method of borrowing money, chiefly in Eastern States, The States have been divided into creditor and debtor. The Eastern States being creditors and the Western States debtors. This phrase he also employs in his Cooper Institute speech, on the 29th of June last, and it has now passed into quotation although there is absolutely no meaning in it.

The Eastern States did not lend money to the Western States but to the Government. It is true the Western States are liable to help to pay the debt, but so are the Eastern States, and they will help to pay the debt in very much the same proportion in which they lent the money.

In his speeches at Buffalo and Chicago, the first financial grievance he complained of was, Congress had levied an export tax of six cents per pound on raw cotton. He said this not only oppressed the planter but chiefly negro laborers, with whom he seems to have fallen in love. He declares the tax as being enormous in its character, levied for vindicative purposes, and as being the reason why reconstruction has not taken place in the South. On this subject Mr. Seymour is not well informed. The tax levied on cotton was not six cents per pound but three cents per pound. The tax was not an export tax as he states. Congress is expressly prohibited by the Constitution from levying an export tax, which Mr. Seymour seems to have forgotten. On the contrary, the tax was levied on all the cotton produced in the country without regard whether it was exported to foreign countries for manufacture or kept in this country, it was levied at a time when the government was compelled to tax everything and draw revenue from every possible source and was repealed nearly a year ago, as soon as the time had come when they could be reduced. The most extraordinary statement which he makes is that it was instigated by eastern manufacturers, and I quote his language: "I say it was a selfish act, because it was done in the interests of the eastern manufacturers, already wealthy from the fruits of the war, and probably by enormous tariffs. This tax of six cents per pound on all cotton exported was imposed so that he might buy it for a price six cents less than it was worth in the markets of the world. The manufacturers were of all other classes in the north who were especially interested against taxes. It is not to be supposed that they desired to add six cents per pound to the cost of new material which they manufactured into goods. On the contrary, the people of manufacturing States were anxious to have the tax repealed, and every representative from New England voted for the repeal of his complaint against eastern manufactures, that instigated this tax on cotton as quite as logical as that of the wolf that quarrelled with the lamb, which was drinking in the stream below, because he muddied the water so that he could not use it, but Mr. Seymour is determined that the people of the Eastern States are oppressors of the west and south, and hence his remarkable statement. Another financial outrage which has been perpetrated by the Republican party, as he alleges, was driving out the circulation of State and local banks by a heavy tax during the war to make room for circulation of National banks and legal tender notes. This was a war measure on the part of the Government and one of absolute necessity. The Government had to have money to carry on the war, to pay the army and navy, to purchase supplies for them, and to meet the expenditures which were necessary to be incurred. The notes of local banks could not be used by the Government for that purpose. They were at par, only in their immediate localities. Even in the time of peace, 1860, notes of the bank of the State of Indiana, as good a bank as there was in the country, would pay hotel bills, or buy goods in the city of New York. They were at a discount in all Eastern cities, and what was true of the banks of Indiana, was true of the banks of Ohio and of all the other western States. The issues of these local banks could not be used in paying the army or in purchase of supplies in parts of the country from where the banks were located, and it became a matter of necessity that this currency should give way and make room for one of uniform value in every part of the United States, and which could be employed by the Government in carrying on the war. Who, therefore, feels aggrieved by this measure? Only those who sympathized with the rebellion and not with the Government. It was necessary at times, and it received but little opposition except from those who desired the success of rebellion, but the principal burden of his speech at Buffalo, Chicago and here, was that when National Banks were located and the National currency distributed it was left open to be grabbed up by those who first applied for it, whereby the Eastern States got more of it, and that this was a great blunder upon the part of Congres. Again I must say that Gov. Seymour is not well informed, as Congress did everything in its power to equalize the distribution of that currency. If the Governor had read the National Currency Act, he could not have made that statement. The Seventeenth Section of the Act provides as follows:—

SEC. 17. And be it further enacted, That the entire amount of circulating notes to be issued under this act shall not exceed three hundred million of dollars, one hundred and fifty millions of which sum shall be appropriated to associations in the States, in the District of Columbia and in the Territories according to representative population, and the remainder shall be apportioned by the Secretary of the Treasury among associations formed in the several States, in the District of Columbia and in the Territories, having due regard to existing banking capital, revenues and business of such States, Districts and Territories.

The State of Indiana got just as much of the currency as she was able to take, and her people were urged by the Comptroller of the Currency, Judge McCulloch, to take more than they did, but Mr. Seymour says that the matter should have been kept open until the Western States were able to take their full share. The Government had to have money and had to sell her bonds. We were in the midst of a terrible war and could not wait for money until the States were all prepared to take equal portions of banking capital. The people in the Eastern States had more capital and more money to purchase bonds with than the people of the West, and it was so before the war. The Western States have a larger proportion of national banking currency than they had of State or local banks before the war. I have a statement made up from the books of the Bank of the State of Indiana and from the books of the Auditor of State which shows the following facts: In October, 1867, the capital of the national banks in Indiana amounted to $12,767,000, their circulation was $11,942,000, their loans were $13,310,258. In March, 1861, the entire bank capital in Indiana was $4,303,425, the entire circulation was $5,368,297, their loans, $6,444,753—so that under the national banking system Indiana has $8,413,575 of an increased banking capital, $5,673,703 of increased circulation and $6,444,753 of increased banking loans, so that under the present system our banking capital has been trebled and our bank circulation more than doubled. Mr. Seymour goes on to say that while Indiana has twelve million dollars of national banking currency, Massachusetts has fifty-seven millions, but he fails to notice that in 1862 Massachusetts had sixty-seven millions of banking capital while Indiana had but four million three hundred and fifty three thousand, and this when Indiana and the national government were just passing from Democratic into Republican hands; but on examination we shall find that the taxes are distributed among the eastern and western States in about the same ratio.

Rhode Island has two representatives in Congress, and paid last year $2,853,500 of internal revenue tax. Massachusetts has twenty-one representatives in Congress, and last year paid nearly eighteen millions of dollars of internal revenue tax. Indiana has eleven representatives in Congress, and last year she paid but two millions three hundred and forty-two thousand dollars of Internal Revenue tax. But Mr. Seymour does not complain that there is any hardship in that, for his mission is to array the West against the East. On last Saturday he showed to the people of Chicago how terribly they were wronged by his own, and other eastern States, in the distribution of National Bank currency; that Massachusetts had $57,000,000, while Illinois had but $10,000,000. Now, to show how terribly Illinois has been outraged in this matter, I will read from the official report, from which it appears that in 1861 and 1862 all the banks of Illinois together had but six hundred and nineteen thousand two hundred and eighty-six dollars in currency, which, according to Mr. Seymour's statement, was driven out to give place to $10,000,000 in national banking currency. And to further prove how terribly the Northwest has been wronged in this whole business, I read from the same report that all the Western States, including Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Iowa, Minnesota, Kansas and Nebraska, had in 1861 nineteen millions six hundred and eighty-four thousand five hundred and fifty-four dollars in currency all told, and that the same States have now of National banking currency fifty millions six hundred and thirty-nine thousand six hundred and ten dollars, being an addition of thirty millions to their currency, growing out of the change from the local to the National banking system.

In January, 1862, before the national banks were established, the total amount of bank circulation, including the rebel States, was two hundred and thirty-eight million six hundred and seventeen thousand two hundred and eighteen dollars, of which the nine northwestern States had, as before stated, one hundred and ninety-one million six hundred and eighty-four thousand five hundred and sixty-four dollars, which was about one-thirteenth of the whole amount of circulation. Now the national banks have a circulation of three hundred millions, of which the nine northwestern States have one-sixth, or fifty millions.

Governor Seymour makes much ado because the rates of interest are higher in the West than in the East, but he greatly exaggerates the difference; it is not more than one-third of what he represents, still the rates of interest are higher in the Eastern than in the Western States, and have always been so. Money is cheaper in the old and wealthy States than in new countries which are but partially developed and are rapidly improving. Money is cheaper in New York than it is in Chicago, and it is much cheaper in London than it is in New York.

Mr. Seymour presents the difference in the rates of interest between New York and Chicago as something new and wonderful; as a great oppression brought about by the action of the Republican party, when the truth is that the difference is less than it was ten years ago, and is growing smaller from year to year, as the west increases in wealth and capital.

And now I come to Mr. Seymour's position as to the Five-Twenty bonds, whether they shall be paid in gold or in greenbacks. On the 29th of June he made a speech at Cooper Institute, in New York, in which he assumed, without condescending to argue the question, that all the bonds were to be paid in gold, and went on to show what injustice and hardships would result to the holders of the bonds if they were paid in paper. The position he took at that time was positive and emphatic, and to show the views of the northwestern Democracy upon his speech, I will read a brief editorial from the Cincinnati Enquirer of June 20, 1868, among the most influential Democratic papers in the North-west:

"Gov. Seymour's Speech.—The radical papers seem to be well pleased in the main with the late speech of Gov. Horatio Seymour in New York. They report it as a plea for the bondholder that his bonds shall be paid in gold. The Governor is usually sound, but his views upon this question run counter to those of ninety-nine Democrats out of a hundred. They can never be sanctioned either by the party or the country. The bonds will not be paid in gold unless the holders will take the sums they were worth in that commodity when they bought them in 1862."

Governor Seymour's financial views are not calculated to strengthen the Democracy, but they will give aid and comfort to the opposition. Five days after this speech was made, the New York Convention adopted the following resolution: "Third, And where the obligations of the government do not expressly state upon their face or the law under which they were issued, does not provide that they shall be paid in coin, they ought, in right and justice, to be paid in the lawful money of the United States. Mr. Seymour, in his letter accepting the nomination, endorses this resolution in the following words: "I have carefully read the resolutions adopted by the Convention, and most cordially concur in every principle and sentiment they advance." In his speech at Buffalo, the other night, he disposed of this question in the following sentiment, which was intended to mean anything or nothing, as the reader desired: "We have said that when the agreement was that he should have been paid in gold, he should have it, and when the contract did not define in what he should have been paid, he should have been given a money as good as that which we use for the sacred purposes of paying our pensions and rewarding the toil of the laborer; but as the pensioner and laborer are both paid in greenbacks, the sentence means, if it means anything, that the bondholders shall be paid in the same way. But Mr. Seymour had pledged himself to both sides of this question, and those pledges have been given so near together that in fact he has no position on the subject, and his two contradictory opinions taken together make both worthless. In his speech at Cooper Institute, he said, that the first thing to be done to restore the credit of the country was to return to specie payments by making the greenback as good as gold, and until this was done the credit of our bonds could not be bought up in the market, and that instead of increasing the amount of currency we should make that good which we now have in that position. I think he was entirely right, but in his speech at Chicago he reverses his position, he declared that the currency could not be made good and brought up to par until the bonds had first been brought up to par in gold. In his Cooper Institute speech he was very earnest and eloquent in favor of returning to specie payment, as the one thing to be done which would equalize the interests of all classes, restore the credit of the nation at home and abroad, and place our bonds upon a level with those issued by other governments, but in his speech at Chicago he not only abandoned this position, but took grounds in favor of a further inflation of currency, which would defer specie payments beyond your life time or mine. In his speech, in this hall last night, he again donated much time to the question of the disturbance of the national currency. In this matter he seems to think that, like another distinguished Democrat, he has discovered the northwest passage. The great importance that he attaches to us did not occur to Mr. Hendricks or any other of the ten thousand Democratic speakers who have been instructing the people during this canvass, and will not occur to the great mass of the people even after they have heard Mr. Seymour. It is a weak complaint against the action of the Republican party which will not bear examination, and of which I now take my leave. In his speech here last night he sought to make an appeal to the soldier and the farmer by the following statement: "When I go over this country I find the advantages of our government unequally distributed—its financial policy bears heavily upon the people, and I find a class of men complaining of it, and I think justly too. This is not a government that deals with all alike. How happens it under this policy that the value of the security of the bondholder goes up and the value of the pension of the soldier goes down, how happens it this day that the great agricultural interest of the States, flourishing as it is, is drooping, while other interests have been so prosperous that they have forgotten, or are not disposed, to divide the advantages they enjoy in this Government with either portions of our land? If Mr. Seymour really desires to foster the interests of the pensioner and of the farmer, he will endeavor to make the currency in which the pensioner is paid and which the farmer receives for his products as good as gold, instead of depreciating its value by flooding the country with a new issue of irredeemable paper money, but as I said before, upon the financial question Mr. Seymour now has no position or standing before the country. I will turn aside from him for a time, to consider the financial schemes of Mr. Pendleton, which were impressed on the New York Convention, and incidentally express my own views upon that subject. Mr. Pendleton is represented to have said, in several speeches during the present canvass, that I endorsed his plan for the payment of the national debt in legal tender notes, commonly called greenbacks. Mr. Pendleton claims that the Government has the right to use the existing legal tender notes in payment of the five-twenty bonds, and to issue new notes with which to replace the National Bank currency and to pay off those bonds. His plan for the payment of the National debt depends almost entirely upon the further issue of legal tender notes, and necessarily involves a great inflation of the currency and an indefinite postponement of a return to specie payment. How far my position coincides with his will appear by the following statement in a speech I made at Columbus, Ohio, in August, 1857. I denounced the proposition to issue new legal tender notes to pay the national debt as in effect, repudiation and disaster to the business of the country by inflating the currency. In May last, I made my first speech in the Senate on the subject of finance, in which I attempted to maintain the following propositions: First. That the further inflation of the currency was not demanded by the people, and would be injurious to business, in every department, and especially to the laboring classes, and would indefinitely postpone the return to specie payment. Second, that the first duty of the govern-

I.

Through—through—through!
Marched the Boys in the Blue!
Through sunshine and shadow,
On mountain and meadow,
Over field, fell and fallow,
Marched the Boys in the Blue!
Gallant and tried—the men of the few—
Marched the Boys in the Blue—
Marched through to the last—
Marched true to the last—
Marched the Boys in the Blue!

II.

Blue—blue—blue!
Hope for the Future has eyes always blue.
True, trusty and tried, in every man's view.
The blue skies above, looking down in their love,
For the future—all time; for me and for you,
Marched the Boys in the Blue!
True to the death, through a forest of flame,
Marched the Boys in the Blue!

III.

Is not the violet perfectly blue?
The gentian of autumn as azure in hue?
The asters—the stars of the woods—always blue,
Blooming always in blue, perennially blue?
Is not the ocean perpetually blue?
Are not the brooks and the lakes always blue?
The truest of eyes are the eyes that are blue.
God, blue-eyed, above, looking down in His love,
Marched the Boys in the Blue!

IV.

Blue—blue—blue!
True as the Boys were the Jackets in Blue!
Over the ocean our banners they bore
Like an aurora from shore unto shore;
East, West, North and South stream'd the symbol of light,
And that which was darkness grew starry and bright.
On our lakes, on our rivers, the flag flashed like fire,
Flaunting, still flaunting, and higher and higher,
Through shot and through shell, borne on by the true.
Bold sons of Posidon—the Jackets in Blue!
The Children of Neptune—the Jackets in Blue!

V.

True—true—true!
WHATEVER THEIR HUE!
Marched the Boys in the Blue!
For you, and for me, and the glory of God,
Each veteran trod hill, and valley, and sod;
Some sinking like staves, dying under the rod—
How many thousands lie under the clod?
But blest be God! Still trusty and true,
Marched the Lads of the Land—
Marched the Youth of the Age—
Marched the Men of the Age—
GRANT'S BOYS IN THE BLUE!

THE ENGLISH REVENUE.—From the revenue returns of the British Government for the quarter ending on the 30th of September, it appears that the revenue for the past quarter was £15,119,005, which is £200,000 more than that of the corresponding period last year. The total revenue for the year was £70,306,542, being £837,091 more than for the year c867. This quarter shows a falling off in the receipts from customs, excise, stamps and Postoffice, but an increase in the amount arising from taxes, crown lands and miscellaneous, which more than counterbalances the decrease in the other sources of revenue. During the year the receipts from income-tax amounted to more than £1,500,000 in excess of the amount collected in 1867.

CROQUET.—The Irish Farmer's Gazette, quoting Cassell's New Popular Educator, says that the game of croquet, although in some respects new, is little more than an old game revived. It is used to be played by the ancient Gauls so universally that the greater portion of the promenades adjoining large towns consisted each of a long alley called the mail—the name of the game being jeu de mail. The later French received it from their ancestors, the Gauls, and it was introduced into England by Charles II., at the time of the Restoration, after his return from his sojourn in France. The long avenue in front of Buckingham Palace called the "Mail,' or "Mall," derived its name from this game, which was played there.

ACCOUNTS have been received from Spitzbergen of the progress made by the Swedish Arctic Exploring Expedition, sent out this summer. The Swedish Government furnished a powerful iron screw-steamer, previously employed as an ice-breaker. The greater part of the expense, however, was borne by some gentlemen of Gothenberg interested in scientific pursuits.

RIVER NEWS.

The marks at the foot of Wodd street inicated about twenty-eight inches. This would make some forty inches in the left of Glass House. Boats, however, will not venture out until we have more water.

The steamer Allena May was sold yesterday by the Marshall for $3,100. She was purchased by Mr. Meek, for Messrs. Gibson and & Son, distillers, who will run her in the slack water for the purpose of doing their own freighting, as well as for anybody else who may choose to patronize them. This firm does a large business, all things considered. The price paid was a good one.

—The snagboat R. E. DeRussey has got off the bar in Missouri river, and is on her way to St. Louis.

—Captain Frank Oakes, of the Alaska, has been seriously ill, but is recovering. He is aboard the boat.

—There is talk of the Belle Lee taking the place of the Gen. Quitman, in the New Orleans and Vicksburg trade.

—The St. Louis Democrat says that "Mr. W. T. Sibley, of New Albany, wants to purchase a couple of bars on steamboats, for which he will pay cash in advance."

—The Wauanita, Glasgow Kate Putnam, Bellevernon and Leonidas, with nearly full cargoes for Pittsburgh, are laid up at Cincinnati waiting water to enable them to complete their trips.

—The Edinburgh reports passing the towboat Silver Heels sunk to her hurricane roof, one mile below Vanceburg, on the Kentucky shore, in below the rocks. The accident occurred during Friday night. She is owned by Captain Little and others in Portsmouth, Ohio, and will prove a total loss.

—We had the pleasure, says the Cincinnati Gazette, of an introduction to Captain A. McGill, of the Belle Lee, on Saturday. He, in company with Captain J. Stut Neal, A. T. Gilmore, R. H. Wolfolk and C. J. Walton, altogether representing steamboats to the capacity of 14,000 tuns, came here from Louisville, to confer with our steamboat owners, with the hope of making steamboating more profitable. The party returned home Saturday exening.

—The Cairo Democrat, of Friday, says: The officers in charge of the United States survey of the Ohio river, were in the city yesterday. The recent rise interfered with their work from Smithland to this point, and it is thought the work in the way of sounding will have to be done over again. The survey will make some important changes in established distances, &c., on the river. It is found that over one route a difference of nearly $75,000 a year will be made in favor of the Government in the transportation of the mails.

—The Nashville Banner says: The A. Baker, which was to have left at 10 a. m., was detained until 3 p. m., five hours. After the engineer had fired up he found that some scoundrel had let all the water out of the boilers. What could have been the motive for so mean an act it is somewhat difficult to determine. Had any considerable quantity of water been suddenly let the boilers after they had become heated to the usual degree, a disastrous explosion might have taken place. We hope that the perpetrator of this villainous trick will be discovered and punished according to his deserts.

—We clip the following from the Wheeling Intelligencer: We have seen Deputy Marshall Irwin, and learn from that gentleman that he has just returned from Parkersburgh, where he served a writ on the McCullough, and where she now lies tied up. From this, it seems, that the owners of the mules lost on the Butler has already taken the preliminary steps for instituting suit..............The same paper says: The steamer J. N. McCullough has given bond and has been released from the custody of the Marshal. It remains to be seen whether the boat or the mules will come off victorious in the suit.

—We clip the following from the Louisville Courier, of Monday: The Economist left for Arkansas river last evening with a pretty fair trip. Among her passengers from this city were a party of fifteen sportsmen who are going to the wilds of Arkansas on a big boat. They are well supplied with arms for killing and salt for preserving their game. The stock of guns in the cabin look warlike, and if the Kuklux happen to board her they will think they have found another consignment of loil campaign documents. Happily the people of our State would scorn to assist in the unholy work of persecuting our Southern bretheren.

—The same paper also says: Yesterday the Economist purchased, among other stores, a quantity of meat purporting to be 484 pounds, but which, when weighed shortly after delivery, had, in some unaccountable manner, shrunk sixty-five pounds. The captain, fearing that at that rate he would have nothing left by the time he got through the canal, refused to receive it and returned the meat to the butcher. Our Louisville dealers have generally a good reputation for honesty and fair dealing, and we are greatly surprised to hear of the above transaction. The policy is in itself suicidal, and we hope that we shall hear of no more such little tricks.

—The Dubuque Herald of Friday, says: The warfare inaugurated months ago between the two packet Companies has benefited the merchants of this city, not only in cheap transportations for themselves, but in attracting trade from points foreign to this market. Yesterday, an upriver merchant visited town and purchased five hundred dollars' worth of goods, chiefly fruit and fancy groceries, equally as liberal as Milwaukee or Chicago offers, and as river tariffs are cheaper than rail tariffs, he is enabled to lay the goods at his door and sell at a fair margin, lower than his neighbor, who receives his goods by the old monopoly lines of railroad transportation.

Gold closed in New York yesterday at 134⅛@134¼.

MR. E. M. STANTON, late Secretary of War, is in town, and will remain for a few days, enjoying the society of his old friends and neighbors. He is not in good health, and seeks relaxation and repose.

THE Post is displeased because we do not see proper to fill several columns every morning with MR. SEYMOUR'S speeches. We do not expect to so conduct our business as to give satisfaction in that quarter.

THE New York Times, at this eleventh hour, calls on Mr. W. H. SEWARD to declare whether he is for GRANT or SEYMOUR. It is of not the slightest consequence which candidate Mr. SEWARD supports, if either.

MR. SEYMOUR is not particular in dealing with facts, and for the plain reason that facts are commonly against him. Mr. SPINNER flatly contradicts the statements he made in his Chicago speech respecting the distribution of currency.

THE Savannah (Ga.) Republican calls upon SEYMOUR and BLAIR "to get out of the way, in favor of men who represent the views of their friends." Have patience till after next Tuesday, and they will both be effectually disposed of.

WEST VIRGINIA is better for the Republicans than was at first reported. Mr. STEVENSON'S majority for Governor is five instead of three thousand. The Democrats evidently expected to colonize the southwestern counties with enough rebels from Kentucky and old Virginia to carry them through. Hence, their crowing after their game seemed to be up. Are the Post's roosters now for sale?

WEST VIRGINIA has given an average majority of about 4,000 for the Union State ticket, and elected all three Congressmen Republicans. The new Legislature stands 17 Republicans to 2 Democrats in the Senate, and 43 Republicans to 13 Democrats in the House of Delegates. Yet the Pittsburgh Post persists in keeping exposed to public view its bulletin of last Friday, claiming that the Democracy carried the State. Our neighbors seem reckless of the two-fold result: 1st, that foolish Democrats continue to bet and lose their money, and 2d, that the last trace of confidence in their organ is rapidly fading from the minds of its former friends. We can stand this, if they can.

MR. SEYMOUR'S friends will do well to apprise him that the people of Allegheny county are very practical in their ideas; that they have no regard for mere reputation unless supported by solid merit; that they do not accept a great name in place of the more solid authority of the truth; that no politician has ever successfully babbled them into a wrong position by any amount of polished oratory, empty invective, or artful misrepresentation. Let Mr. SEYMOUR deal in facts; let him state these fully, for the suppression of a part of the truth is the suggestion of a falsehood, and, whatever his topics, this evening, these hints are at his service, and for his advantage in avoiding "a sea of troubles."

THE CASE FOR THE PROSECUTION.

HORATIO SEYMOUR, stand up! You were made a candidate under your own protest; you remain a candidate against the indignant protest of so much of your party as comprehends a leading share of its brains, its shrewdness and its patriotism. You are aware that you were the Hobson's choice, which was limited between yourself and a negro-suffrage candidate. You were the last distasteful choice of the clamor for a white man's government, wherefore no one wonders that you hate reconstruction.

You had not in that Convention at New York one solitary friend, beyond Copperheads like VALLANDIGHAM, with whose martyrdom you so feelingly sympathized, and the bond-holding clique which the New York World is the organ of; the masses of your "friends" were outside the walls of Tammany that day, as they were in '63. Look, Sir, at the true friendship, the sincere, hearty enthusiasm which marked the manly and persistent devotion of their adherents to such men as PENDLETON and HENDRICKS; contrast that earnest and glowing sincerity of zeal with the shivering reluctance exhibited by a large majority of the delegates when your name was mentioned; recall the secret history of that week's intrigues, as it is well known to you; deny, if you can, what your own heart told you then—as the protests of thousands of honest Democrats have reiterated to you, privately and publicly, within the past two weeks—that you were not the man, either for the party or for the emergency, and that your nomination, made by an accident, is realized to be a blunder. Don't flatter yourself that your party love you or even respect you. No sir, they hold you too cheap for that. When, after the twenty-two ballotings of nearly three trying days, they were at last snared by your engineers, they were not slow to be avenged for the treachery, for they took you, "the distinguished, eloquent statesman, financier, patriot, HORATIO SEYMOUR" and deliberately dishonored your personal manhood by binding you hand and foot to a platform well known to be the most distasteful to your judgment and inconsistent with your public declarations. You are a bond-holder in all your sympathies; they put you on a repudiating platform. You loved peace so well that you once sided with the public enemy in the dark era of rebellion; they put you, peace Democracy and all, on a platform of rebellion and anarchy, and required you to defend opinions and declarations which are already consuming all the foundations of a lawful peace and reddening a harvest of murder in twelve of these States. The Democratic party are making you eat a vast deal of dirt, sir. Don't flatter yourself that they respect or honor you, when they have done deliberately this indignity to all your recorded opinions. No, sir, they knew their man too well for that. They knew, as the result proves, that you could and would recant if need be all your past utterances upon grave questions of finance, and they knew that the apologist for the rioters of New York would not stick at extenuating the reign of terror over half the Republic.

You know, GOV. SEYMOUR, that you are already a doomed man. You know that the Presidency was the real question upon which the people of Maine, of Vermont, of Pennsylvania, of Ohio, of Indiana, of West Virginia, of Nebraska, and of three Territories, have already condemned and rejected you, sir. They don't want you as their candidate. You know, sir, that since your name has been presented to your fellow-citizens, not an election has been held in all this Republic where that name has been approved, except in the one State of Kentucky. Are you content with that?

You know that the brains, the judgment, the whole worthier part of the Democracy, regard you with disgust, as a burthen too great and too odious to carry with success. You know that a sense of true manhood would prompt, perhaps has prompted, you to withdraw from your unwelcome place. Why do you "stick"?

Do you not know that, in seven short days more, you will be the most completely extinguished politician on this continent, and in human probability, the most bitterly execrated by your "friends," and the least kindly pitied by all your countrymen?

You know, sir, that you are now engaged in an attempt—so bald and palpable a sham that the whole world derides you—to blind your countrymen to the true issues of this canvass, as set forth in that platform, which is to you the breath of life, as it was conceived and matured in the mad, reckless ambition of your associate, Gen. BLAIR. You know that this treachery to the Convention, to the platform, and to that associate, is looked upon by all honest and intelligent Democrats as simply contemptible.

You know that you do not expect to be chosen by honest votes; that your election depends upon the votes of rebels; upon the success of the most gigantic, universal and infernal schemes for the corruption of a pure suffrage; that in every northern State your friends are exposed as the guilty engineers of the most audacious assaults upon all the laws extant in that regard; that within the two oceans cannot be named the Court or Judge, Republican in politics, who to-day stands charged with any of those shameful corruptions and abuses which burthen the columns of the daily press with their broad array against your Democratic friends.

You were the apologist for a past treason; you are the official exponent of another threatened. You incited riot and murder in New York five years since, and you to-day invite revolution and all the dread woes of civil war throughout your country.

And you may know that, talk what platitudes you may this day, your countrymen have already judged you, and you shall not escape their verdict.

THE Erie Dispatch, than which there is not a more vigorous and reliable Republican daily newspaper in the State, has changed from the quarto form back to the folio.

THEIR LAST CARD—TRUMP IT!

The Election Boards in all quarters of the country should be especially vigilant, and should exhaust all legal precautions in cases where naturalized citizens offer their votes based on ☞ papers, dated in September or October, 1868, and purporting to be issued from the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia; from any of the Courts of the City of New York, and particularly the Courts of Judges BARNARD, CARDOZO and MCCUNN; and from the Probate Courts of Sandusky, Ottawa, Richland, Franklin and Logan counties, in Ohio. ☜ In all these Courts, the most scandalous frauds or violations of the law are positively known to have occurred. Papers by the thousand have either been "granted" by the bailiffs, tip-staves, sweepers or coal-heavers, or sold by the Clerks at so much per dozen, per hundred or per ream; made out in blank and delivered by the hundred to Democratic partizans, who afterwards found men to fit them; or the seals have been "unfortunately" stolen and affixed to forged papers, or seal and all have been counterfeited, or the Court officials, from the Judge down, have all engaged in the scoundrelly business of manufacturing bogus voters by the regiment. In all the Courts above specified, one or another, or all, of these Democratic expedients to "overthrow Radical misrule," have been systematically practiced, and now stand exposed. We regret to be unable to announce that any other discoveries have been made as yet, of what undoubtedly will finally be known to have been the main electioneering card of the SEYMOUR and BLAIR Democracy in this canvass.

But so much of this rascally programme as now stands patent to the public eye, our election officers can be on their guard against. In all cases, therefore, where votes are offered on papers of those dates and from those Courts, respectively specified above, the Boards cannot do their entire legal duty unless they require reasonably satisfactory proof, first, in identifying the claimant as the man actually named in the paper, and, second, as to the genuineness of the papers themselves, that they have been granted by a Court of competent jurisdiction, and are not, in whole or part, forgeries or otherwise fraudulent. The safer way will be to reject all papers from the Courts and of the dates above mentioned, until satisfactory proof shall be made to sustain them.

This is a matter worthy of the closest attention throughout the country. These false "papers" are the last and intended to be the strongest card of the Democracy. Let it be trumped promptly and sternly.

THE SOUTHERN CROPS.

FOR THE YEAR ending August 31, 1868, the total export of wheat and flour was equivalent to about 23,000,000 bushels; while, this year, the exportable surplus is estimated at 40,000,000 bushels. The exportable surplus of corn must be equally large. But there does not seem to be any extraordinary demand for breadstuffs in Europe. In Great Britain the wheat crop is superior both in quality and quantity, but the abundance is supposed to be neutralized by the comparative failure of other crops, but not more than neutralized. These are the main reasons which occasion the present uncertainty as to the prices of wheat and flour, and the anxiety on the part of holders to sell. It seems problematical whether existing rates can be maintained.

The cotton crop of the Southern States, the current year, is estimated by persons most competent to form a reliable judgment, at 2,498,895 bales, which is an increase of nearly half a million bales over the crop of the year before. This is fully up in amount to any crop prior to 1852, and has been surpassed in only nine years. But prices rule higher than before the Rebellion; so that the amount which the new crop will bring will not fall greatly below the average of the best years in past times. This shows how rapidly the South is recovering from the disasters and bankruptcy entailed upon it by the war. Five years more will place that section in a condition of great prosperity, provided only the Reconstruction of the Union shall be accomplished on such conditions as shall not only ensure repose, but as shall scrupulously guard the just rights of all classes of the population.

Nor is it alone in the production of cotton that the recuperative energy of the Southern people is disclosed. The rice crop of South Carolina is estimated at 38,100 tierces; of Georgia, at 10,000; of Louisiana, at 25,000; and of North Carolina, at 7,000; making an aggregate of 80,100 tierces.

While these two staples are thus assuming somewhat of their old proportions and value, grain and hay have been grown in quantities altogether unprecedented; so that, on the whole, the agricultural productions of the Southern States have already approached in value more closely to what they were immediately preceding the war, than is commonly supposed.

"From first to last—from the so-called anti-slavery amendment of the Constitution to the flood of trash for all purposes, military, civil, financial and commercial—all the econstruction laws of the whole peace period fall to pieces IF THE DEMOCRACY SUCCEED IN ELECTING MR. SEYMOUR AS THEIR STANDARD BEARER. We can take part in such a conflict. We believe from the depths of our understanding that these Congressional misdoings are all, one like the other, perfectly void."—The West and South.

If "an honest confession is good for the soul," as many theologians aver, then the soul of the West and South must be getting into a hopeful condition. It honestly acknowledges what most of the supporters of SEYMOUR and BLAIR, at least throughout the northern portion of the Union, are most anxious to conceal for the present.

Reactionists, as a rule, have not been found ready, at the outset of their proceedings, to avow all they intend to accomplish. Ordinarily they find it safer to deal in sweeping condemnations of their opponents as extravagant, if not incendiary innovators, and to put forth specious but vain pretenses in their own behalf, until they can so far win popular confidence as to get the reins of government entrusted to their hands, when they speak out precisely what they mean, ordaining the restoration of all that has been displaced to the profit of mankind. The South and West allows frankness to get the better of its discretion, and it lets out what a restoration of our Democratic Bourbons would practically be found to mean. Fortunately, the Republicans understand as well without this confession as with it, what the intentions of the Democrats really are.

President Johnson on the Finances—$2,138,000,000, Almost Half the National Liabilities Have Been Paid Within Seven Years.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

In his letter to General Ewing, Mr. Johnson says the liabilities of the Government from the 1st of July, 1861, to the 1st of July, 1865 were - - - - -	$3,300,000,000

And for the three succeding years they were $520,000,000, $346,000,000 and $393,000,000. In all to July 1st, 1868	$1,259,000,000
Total for the seven years.	$4,559,000,000

The aggregate debt on the 1st day of July, 1868 was $2,511,000,000. This included the $64,000,000 which Mr. Johnson says was the amount of "our debt in 1860, just prior to the outbreak of the rebellion," and also the $26,000,000 we have advanced to the Pacific Railroad Companies to be returned hereafter, making together $90,000,000, which subtracted from the whole debt of $2,511,000,000 leaves $2,421,000,000 as our actual liabilities for the seven years remaining unpaid. Deducting this sum from the whole liabilities as given above, we have $2,138,000,000, the amount we have paid from the 1st day of July, 1861, to the 1st day of July, 1868. That is, with all our difficulties and disadvantages the Northern States have paid 47 per cent., or nearly one-half the entire liabilities of our Government incurred during these seven years.

We ought to thank Mr. Johnson for allowing us a glance at our resources by showing us what we have already done.

R.

How Democratic Votes are Made.

A New York letter says: The courts of this city have been running night and day for weeks to naturalize foreign-born persons and enable them to vote at the ensuing election. Many thousands of new voters have been created this fall. The vote of New York it is now estimated will be 160,000, or 47,000 greater than ever before polled. Robert Murray, United States Marshal, was satisfied that in addition to the legitimate naturalization now in progress, many forged certificates of naturalization were being issued. After long and assiduous endeavor through his agents, he discovered that one Benjamin R. Rosenburg, claiming to be chairman of the Tammany Naturalization Committee, was procuring blank papers from the Supreme Court, stamped with the official seal, and signed Charles E. Leow, county clerk. By employing some shrewd agents, he obtained indubitable evidence of fraud. To effect this, he drew up a great many fictitious names of men who never existed at residences which had no substantial foundation. For these imaginary aliens his agents were enabled to obtain, at two dollars each, a large number of certificates of naturalization, duly attested as above described, from Mr. Rosenberg, the Tammany Chairman. The mode of doing this was in this wise: The agent called upon Mr. R. with a promiscuous list of twenty or thirty names, some of which were complete, and some without initials and residences. For each of the names that was complete, Mr. R., it is alleged, was in the habit of sending a runner over to the Supreme Court at once, enjoining upon the applicant to complete the list as soon as possible, when the others should be procured. The runner entering by a private door to the Supreme Court chamber, would come out in a few minutes with the documents stamped and signed for the invisible voters, and as soon after they were transferred to the marshal's agents on payment of cash. This thing was followed up until the marshal had got half a ream or so of these papers. Rosenberg showed one of Murray's agents his book, on which five thousand names of persons naturalized through his office were inscribed, and stated that he had sold seven thousand of such papers to applicants this fall. Furthermore, he offered to deliver any number of such documents for cash to any one who could be trusted that wanted them. Marshal Murray yesterday arrested Mr. Rosenberg in the name of the United States.

The New Rebellion.

A Washington dispatch says: Judge Hoge, of South Carolina, arrived here today with a report of Gov. Scott upon rebel outrages committed in that State. In company with a number of representatives from North Carolina he waited upon the Secretary of War to lay before him the condition of things under the new rebellion which now reigns in those States, to ascertain what assistance the General Government can give toward the preservation of peace. Not half the horrors suffered by loyalists in South Carolina have ever been told. In western South Carolina the assassinations average from fifteen to twenty daily. No arrests are ever made or even attempted for any of the multitude of murders. As they must be made by the sheriffs the civil authorities are unable and generally unwilling to do anything towards bringing the assassins to justice. The gentleman had a satisfactory interview with Gen. Schofield to-day, and received assurances that Governor Scott would have all the aid which it was possible for him to render. He intimated that Union men at the South would have to endure these things only a little longer.

Blair Pearls.

We have a string of four pearls—all of them from the lips of Frank Blair. We publish them for the satisfaction of his Democratic supporters. Save 'em up in your Democratic scrap-books, and read them over the morning of the election:

The Democratic party is the most miserable and corrupt party that ever existed.—F. F. Blair, in 1862.

I would rather sleep with a nigger than a Democrat.—F. P. Blair, in 1863.

May you lift the British out of his boots, and wrest from his lion grasp the emerald gem of the sea; but whether or not you shall succeed in this endeaver, may you each and all remain in Ireland or elsewhere, and never again set foot on these shores! You are wanted there, and we can get along without you!—Frank Blair addressing the Fenians of St. Louis in 1866.

By G——! Grant knows more than Sherman and all the balance of them banged into one!—F. P. Blair, at Leavenworth, in August, 1866.

THE following singular paragraph is from the Albany Argus, the central organ of the New York Democracy: "Gov. Seymour cannot cut loose from Gen. Blair. He cannot arbitrarily relinquish a candidacy he did not seek, and which was forced upon him as a duty. And who would take the vacated post? Who would covet the dubious honor? * * * The game of corruption and fraud cannot twice be played. The money raised to stimulate, then, and to bribe voters has been spent."

The Democratic Schism.

There is a report that Pendleton and Voorhees were in consultation with Blair, out West, last night, and that he had nearly concluded to send a letter of resignation to the Executive Committee. Adams is talked of to fill his place, as his recent speeches at the South are found to please the Southern Democrats and meet the approval of many Republicans.

Gen. M'Clellan has been invited to write a letter to restore confidence among the Democrats, but up to this time he has not responded.

Chase's name is hardly mentioned at present, as there is no movement in favor of Seymour's withdrawal. Seymour is understood to be entirely ready to retire at any moment his friends think best, but none of them advise his doing so.

Some time ago, just after the Maine election, Barbour and others applied to Seymour to know whether, in the event of a Democratic defeat in the October elections, he would be willing to withdraw from the canvass in favor of Judge Chase or Andrew Johnson. They represented that they were delegated by the National Committee to make such application. Seymour's written reply was that he avoided the nomination; that he only accepted it at the earnest entreaty of the Convention; that neither contest nor office had any charms, and that he left himself in the hands of his friends. Arrived with this document, Barbour & Co., opened negotiations with Coyle in Washington, and Washington M'Lean in the West, and offered to pledge the nomination of Pendleton in 1872, in the event of the Western Democracy agreeing to a change of front. Coyle readily assented to the proposition. The Pendleton men held back till Monday or Tuesday of last week, when they telegraphed to Barbour & Co., through Wash. M'Lean, that they were ready for the movement. But a difficulty had sprung up in the mean time. Frank Blair was the obstruction in the way of treason. He refused to withdraw, declared his belief that his sentiments were the real sentiments of the Democracy all over the country, and stated that he did not recognize the right of committees or candidates to change the action of the Convention. Here was a dilemma. But the World undertook to drive Blair from the field if he would not retire willingly, and so conspirators opened fire simultaneously at Washington, New York and the West, by a declaration that the present Democratic ticket was hopelessly defeated, and nothing could save the party but a change of front.—Wash. Letter.

They Don't See it.

Democratic candidates, from Seymour to Vallandigham, have a profound understanding of the art of declining—before the nomination. They don't understand the first motion in such a process of being nominated. It is within the bounds of possibility that by a combined, concentrated attack of all arms, horse, foot, and dragoons, the warrior of the ticket might be made to retreat. But as for the civilian, the World may as well dismiss its crazy hopes. No miser ever clutched his gold more closely, no old maid ever clung to the hope of yet achieving matrimony more fondly, than Horatio Seymour clings to the nomination it cost him so much to win. All things are possible with the Democracy, since the party of Andrew Jackson has become the party of treason; the party of Thomas Jefferson the party of slavery; the party of Dix the party of Seymour. The head of the ticket might then be forced off after all; but it could only happen, it would seem, after some such convulsion of hearts, and throats, and tears as put him on.

COUNSEL FOR THE CARELESS.

The body is a machine, and carelessness in its management is as sure to lead to evil results as carelessness in the management of a steam engine. Yet the last thing that most people think of is the protection of this delicate piece of the Creator's handiwork from the subtle causes of disease by which it is surrounded. It is no easy thing to repair the system when in ruins; but there is no difficulty in fortifying it against many of the dangers to which it is exposed. Guard against nervous debility. At the first symptom of this fore-runner of more serious ailments, sustain the flagging energies of nature with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Take it regularly and persistently, until bodily vigor is thoroughly restored. It creates an appetite, promotes—or, it might as properly be said compels—the complete digestion of the food, regulates the secretive action of the liver, tones and invigorates the bowels, improves the condition of the blood, and gives firmness to the nerves. Upon a system thus strengthened and regulated in all its important functions, the fogs and exhalations of autumn, pregnant with the elements of intermittent fever can make little or no impression. Whoever supposes that fever and ague is an unavoidable evil in certain districts, at this season of the year, is egregiously mistaken. As effectually as a draught of cold air is shut out by the closing of a door, this complaint, and all disorders of a miasmatic type, may be prevented by the use of the BITTERS. When sickness can be avoided by a means so safe and simple, is it not the merest fatuity to neglect the proffered antidote? Regarded either as a preventive or a cure for dyspepsia, biliousness, intermittent fever, nervous disorders, general debility, or constipation of the bowels, this pure vegetable preparation stands alone.

DISEASED LUNGS.

There is no doubt whatever that diseases of the lungs, or ulcers of whatever sort, on any of the internal organs may be and are frequently cured, and a complete condition of health established. If the elaborative functions, of which the stomach is the primary and most important one, are restored to a condition to do the repairing of the human system, ulcers or sores, whether upon the lungs, the liver, the kidneys or the bowels, or upon the legs, as is frequently the case, can be made to heal, and a complete standard of health re-established.

We have frequently seen these results from the use of Dr. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE, a pleasant and agreeable medicine, which will ripen up and carry out the animal economy all effete and used up material. Dr. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE is enriched by some of the most valuable plants and herbs known to be useful and curative in all deteriorated states of the human blood, and whilst it adds to its plasma, it at the same time stimulates, gently but effectively, the skin, the kidneys, the liver and the glandular system to sufficient action to enable the body to take on healthful action and eradicate the disease. The sick and afflicted should bear in mind the virtues of this great medicine, and if those who are sufficiently alive to the importance of health, will resort to it in the beginning of a cough or cold, there would be no falling into declines and rapid consumption, so hopelessly incurable, and so most surely fatal. Let any one afflicted with any pulmonary disease try but one bottle, and they will be convinced of the value of Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure. Sold by the gross, dozen or single bottle, at Dr. KEYSER'S Great Medicine Store, 140 Wood st.

"ONLY one murder at a time is committed in one place, and therefore we cannot interfere." This is the substance of the reply by the Administration to the applications yesterday for aid in North and South Carolina, made by officials and other representative men of those States, who furnished the ghastly lists of murders for political causes. From the south-west the reports are even more horrible. A single dispatch from New Orleans tells us of the murder, in his own bed, of the Sheriff of Iberville, the assassination of the Justice of the Peace in Caddo Parish, and the muder of Judge Chase and the Sheriff of Franklin almost in the very presence of a band of "Seymour Knights." An Alabama letter gives the documentary evidence concerning the murder of a President of a League. And from Texas we have reports of the reorganization of rebel regiments. "We must have a President who will execute the will of the people by trampling into the dust the usurpations of Congress known as the Reconstruction acts." That was the word sent by the Democratic candidate for the Vice Presidency. Till that signal for rising was sounded the rebels were comparatively quiet, and reconstruction was in peaceful progress. Now read Governor Seymour's smooth words, attempting to explain Blair away, and see if pretty phrases will hide this dripping blood that steeps his garments.—N. Y. Tribune.

WHAT right have Wade Hampton, Napoleon Butcher Forrest, Pirate Semmes, et id omne genus, to concern themselves about the Presidential election at all? If they could have had their way, there would be no United States, and no President to elect.—Press.

This Company, National in its character, offers, by reason of the Large Capital, Low Rates of Premium and New Tables, the most desirable means of insuring life yet presented to the public.

The rates of premium being largely reduced, are made as favorable to the insurers as those of the best Mutual Companies, and avoid all the complications and uncertainties of Notes, Dividends and the misunderstandings which the latter are so apt to cause the Policy-Holders.

Several new and attractive tables are now presented which need only to be understood to prove acceptable to the public, such as INCOME-PRODUCING POLICY and RETURN PREMIUM POLICY. In the former, the policy-holder not only secures a life insurance, payable at death, but will receive, if living, after a period of a few years, an annual income equal to ten per cent. (10 per cent.) of the par of his policy. The latter the Company agrees to return to the assured the total amount of money he has paid in, in addition to the amount of his policy.

The attention of persons contemplating insuring their lives or increasing the amount of insurance they already have, is called to the special advantages offered by the National Life Insurance Company.

Circulars, Pamphlets and full particulars given on application to the Branch Office of the Company in Philadelphia, or its General Agents.

☞ LOCAL AGENTS ARE WANTED in every City and Town; and applications from competent parties for such agencies with suitable endorsement, should be addressed TO THE COMPANY'S GENERAL AGENTS ONLY, in their respective districts.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, October 27, 1868.

Gold was higher to-day than last night, but the market was weak and dull, and closed at 134¼, with a declining tendency after having reached 134¾, and a few large time sales were made at 134¾ by the bull element in order to keep up the market exchange for to-morrow's steamer. The decline to-day would indicate a further depression in the premium, whenever the Government begins to pay out gold for November coupons. The entire decline from 144¾ to 134 was so little opposed by the bull party, that should a reaction set in, they will show their full strength, since they were bears in bonds and stocks, and are consequently not much weakened by the decline in stocks.

Government bonds have suffered another decline to-day, and now 1865 Five Twenties sold down to 109¾. So long as money remains sharp, 7 per cent. in gold and a commission for the negotiation, there is little hope that bonds will advance, but the Presidential eleelection, next week, will undoubtedly stimulate purchases, even at a close money market by foreign capitalists and German banking houses for remittance to Europe. Gold at 134¼, and bonds of 1862 at 112¾, will leave a small margin on bonds, and are more profitable to ship than exchange at 110¼.

Stocks are dull throughout the entire list; the miscellaneous shares are more affected by the decline in Erie than all the clique stock; the sound dividend paying shares have suffered alike with the worthless stock, because they were carried on too small a margins. Express stocks were very firm, and scarcely yielded at all, some large purchases were made of Adams and Merchants Union, and the moment the money market is relieved from the extreme pressure these stocks will sharply react.

Business is very dull, and money extremely hard to get, yet our banks have no exchange on Eastern cities, a remarkrble fact when New York banks ship currency West to bring grain and produce.

Closing quotations as received by Ph. R Mertz: Gold, 134¼; Eighty-one's, 114¾; Five Twenties, 1862, 112⅞; do, 1864, 110¾; do, 1865, 110⅞; do, 1865, new, 109¾; do, 1867, 109¾; do, 1868, 110; Ten Forties, 105½; Railroads —Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 86¾; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago, 112¼; Chicago & Rock Island, 104¼; Chicago & North Western, 88⅝; do Preferred, 89¾; Michigan Southern, 84⅝; Reading, 96¼; Erie, 38⅞; New York Central, 23¼; Ohio & Mississippi Certificates, 30¼; Western Union Telegraph Co, 35¾; Merchants Union Express Co., 22½. Mining shares—Quicksilver, 21.

—The following stocks were sold last evening on second floor of Commercial sales Rooms, 106 Smithfield street, by A. McIlwaine, auctioneer:

Tradesmen's National Bank............$113 25

—Money was in full supply to dealers in Governments at 1 per cent., with more offered than they could use. Stock houses were generally supplied at the same rate, and much less money was loaned at usurious rates than for several days past; although houses who required large amounts offered gold interest early in the day, and in some cases paid a commission of 1-16th on currency loans. The Bank Statement does not reflect the stringent state of the market. The combination have on deposit in their confederate banks from six to ten millions of dollars on undrawn certified checks; and, although they are liable to be drawn at any moment, the banks continue to count the greenbacks held for their payment as reserve, thus giving an entirely false statement of their real condition. So far there had been a full supply of money at high rates, but the bears promise to lock up enough more to make an absolute scarcity of loanable funds.—New York Tribune, 26th.

LETTER FROM ST. LOUIS.

A Demoralized Party—Fallen Stars—The Blair Family.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, October 24, 1868.

The Democratic party in this city is completely demoralized, played out, squelched. The result of the Pennsylvania and Ohio elections was a damper to them, but the old carcass had life enough still to be resuscitated and set on its pins. It is all up with it now, however. Any calamity that could happen to it abroad would be but a flea bite to the dreadful occurrences that have transpired within a few days at home. Among the stars of the Democracy in St. Louis there were none who shone with brighter effulgence than Gen. E. B. Brown and the brothers Able. Gen. Brown figured as one of the National Executive Committee and President of the Democratic County Committee; was a delegate to the New York Convention, where he helped to nominate his personal friend Frank Blair, and is altogether one of the great Moguls of the party. To these high honors add that he enjoys the emoluments of the not altogether contemptible office of United States Pension Agent. Dan Able is also a star of the first magnitude, and was rallying the Democracy around his standard as candidate for the office of Sheriff of the county. He isn't an office-holder, but is a brother to Bart, which is much the same thing. If one is a good Democrat and has a brother who, in addition to being a good ditto, is United States Collector of Internal Revenue, it is generally considered a very good thing. Dan wasn't first choice of the Democracy for Sheriff, but seeing how things were likely to go in the country at large, and probably anticipating that the next administration would not estimate his claims for preferment as highly as he does himself, thought his best hold was at home. So he hinted that the candidate for Sheriff had better retire and make room for him, which of course was instantly attended to. Of course.

But their pleasant little arrangements seem to have come to grief rather suddenly. A Grand Jury of the United States, not having the fear of any Democratic Divinity before its eyes, the other day brought in a little indictment in which E. B. Brown and Dan Able and Owens and sundry other so-called "evil disposed persons," all good Democrats, were alluded to unpleasantly as having had their fingers rather too deep in Uncle Sam's pockets. It seems there has been a thriving little whisky business going on without much outlay for Revenue stamps, and General Noble, the United States District Attorney, having got scent of it, very unexpectedly a dozen or so good Democrats found themselves in custody, with an hour or two allowed them to find bail.

Bad fix for the leaders of the party, particularly as they were very much depended upon for the sinews of war. It didn't strike them favorably just then to pony up on demand, so the County Committee, to stave off a failure as long as possible, tried the dodge of assessing the candidates. Some of them didn't seem to see it in that light, and to cut the matter short, told the Committee they might have their resignations, but their money they shouldn't have. So they resigned and left the party again without a ticket Worse than all. Tammany Hall, the headquarters of the party, couldn't be run without funds, which it had derived from the same source, and the Sheriff has just seized that.

Alas for the Democracy! Their trusted leaders in limbo, their financial resources failing, their headquarters captured by a vandal Sheriff! their candidates—some of them withdrawing, and one likely, if elected, to have to spend the best part of his term in the penitentiary! O, where could they find comfort? There was a hope that Dan Able would relieve them of a part of their burden by retiring from the field, but when the subject was broached Dan said he didn't see it, and so added insult to injury. And that's the present situation.

The Democrat pokes fun at them politely. It bristles all over with squibs and unfeeling conundrums, and the poor Republican discourseth elaborately in the corruption and demoralization of the Radical party, but havn't the heart to say a word about the melancholy condition of its own.

The fact is the Democratic party ought to have gone decently into its grave twenty years ago, and left a respectable odor behind it. How could it retain any kind of sweet savor after its life had so long departed? Let us pray that November will bury the offensive carcass forever.

Poor Frank Blair is a good deal of a load to carry. If he could only keep his mouth shut; but that he can't. The idea of a Blair without gab is preposterous, but the idea of Frank holding his tongue approaches the sublime. Lots of good Democrats would like to see General Grant shot or poisoned or exterminated in some way, but they don't quite see the policy of saying so publicly; and they think Frank is going to be the death of their party. Many will not shed tears over this calamity, foreseeing that the political death of the Blair family is near at hand and inevitable. And to this men of all parties devoutly say amen.

The prospect for success of the Republican party in this State is very favorable. A hard fight is being made in the First Congressional District, between General Pile, the present member, and Erastus Wells. Wells has money, and will bleed freely, which is a strong card among Democrats. It will be a tight pull, and it is hard to predict who will come out best.

NEW YORK LETTER.

The Social Aspect of Gotham—Water Street Mission—Anti-American Antecedents of Prevalent Vice—The Political Book Out in the State.

Correspondence Pittsburgh Gazette.

NEW YORK, October 26, 1868.

Amid the incessant bustle and whirl of Gotham, one almost imperceptibly ignores the existence of other latitudes with less commercial activity, but not less American characteristics. The citizen of New York, who has little of worldly goods, and may not retire from the perplexities of business to suburban residences on Long Island, on the Hudson, or on Madison Square, feels less of that harmonizing touch which nature contributes to make the whole world kin. To him this great and populous city is the world in which he resides, and he is but an atom, a drop in the bucket, among the multitude struggling for life. Daily, as he walks the streets, he jostles and elbows people strange and curious to him, with countenances pre-occupied by business or vacant of any expression, and all seem to be industriously walking a wager, hurrying hither or thither on business of pressing moment, or bending their steps like belated travelers in pursuit of some indefinable object. Walk Broadway on a fine afternoon, and you become an involuntary member of a mixed procession of fashion, frippery, industry and indolence, yet if you are a stranger the citizen can read it in your eye, your gait and manner, and take an estimate of your character almost as rapidly as Professor Fowler.

There is nothing truly congenial in the great business mart of the city, for that miner phase of human nature you must seek elsewhere. In the quiet stillness which reigns up-town, away from the marts and workshops, among the homes of the resident population, the fever of excitement becomes softened by a moiety of repose, the pulse relaxes its feverish beating, the powers of reflection become disenthralled and you become once more aware of your individual identity.

The Water Street Mission has had its day, and the religious meetings have broken up for the want of attendance. Among the two thousand families in the neighborhood not twenty, we are told, could be induced to attend. No sagacious thinking man, who knows the locality, could predict a longer life for this movement. It was fostered by over-zealous, though worthy missionaries, who knew too little of human nature, and planted their seed on a sterile rock, incapable of vegetation. The newspapers assisted in creating a sensation; but as for the meeting outside of the members of the Mission, they were nothing, from first to last, but motley gatherings of listless, indifferent or curious spectators. John Allen, at whose low den the movement was initiated (although perhaps not entitled to the flattering addition of "the wickedest man in New York,) is an unscrupulous scoundrel, and his professed conversion the flimsiest hypocrisy, put on to obtain a rent for his dance-house, being more remunerative than the prosecution of his nefarious business. Arbitrary city reform is apparently the most practicable in the low regions about the docks, and all other purlieus of vice and iniquity in the city. A more judicious system of license would have a salutary effect in eradicating these social horrors, or at least mitigate the evil.

The fact is patent to any intelligent observer that the localities where vice and wretchedness most abound in this city are neighborhoods where the poorer class of Irish are always found. The vice-traps of the Empire City are scarcely ever American institutions, but are generally carried on by parties of foreign birth. As a rule this applies to other cities as well. The American character has suffered greatly under the odium of wickedness and revolting crimes daily committed in our midst, which, if traced to the authors, are, in nine cases out of ten, the work of aliens.

New York State appears to be the important field in the coming election. The victory of Grant in the Presidential contest would scarcely be complete without the overthrow of Tammany Hall in the person of its representative on the Gubernatorial ticket. The signs of the triumph of the Republican State ticket are all propitious. The defections from sham Democracy, consequent on the dictatorial tone assumed by Tammany at the Albany Convention, are wide-spread, and it is believed the friends of Senator Murphy will administer a signal rebuke to the unscrupulous "ring" which defeated his nomination. The popular Union majority may be safely set down at 15,000.

A singular contest for the political championship is that in the Fourth District, between Horace Greeley and the Hon. John Morrissey, ex-body beater. The friends of Mr. Greeley are industriously at work and increasing in strength, and if any body can "polish off" Morrissey in a battle of this kind, this veteran editor is the one to do it. He deserves in this contest to come pat "between too early and too late." So mote it be.

The Assembly is safe for the Union party, from all indications; but the Republicans in this State will have to use their most untiring vigilance to counteract and defeat the political tricks which copperheadism in its desperation will unscrupulously and openly resort to.

SENATOR MORTON'S SPEECH.

ment was to return to specie payments by buying the legal tender notes up to par, and making them as good as gold, and that this could be accomplished by fixing a future day, say the first of July, 1871, for the redemption of the notes, and reserve the surplus gold in the treasury for that purpose afterwards. On the 13th of July, in reply to a Senator, he argued that in the payment of gold bonds the government had a right to use the existing legal tender notes which were issued before the sale of the first Five-Twenty bonds, or contemporaneous therewith, and with which the banks were purchased from the Government. This is not as a matter of taste or desire, but as my opinion of the law, and I have certainly read or heard nothing to change it, nor have I lately denounced it as a fraud or a swindle, as stated by certain newspapers, though I have used such language freely towards the proposal to issue new notes with which to pay the bonds. This proposition will have no practical importance, however, unless the depreciation of the currency and the premium on gold shall be maintained as a prominent policy, in which case the people will not be led to consider what are the legal rights of the government in the payment of the public debt, but I prefaced this argument with the declaration that the first duty of the government was to return to specie payments, which would put this and many other troublesome questions out of the way, and here is what I said: This question is not important beyond the time that the government shall resume specie payments. Whenever we make the legal tender note as good as gold then it is settled, but an important question, and it may be an important and troublesome one until that time occurs for one belief that the true policy for the Government is to take steps first and foremost to bring about the resumptien of specie payments. I believe that this lies at the foundation of our financial system, and there is where we should begin. I will remark that this question is entirely distinct from the question of the right of the Government to make a new issue of legal tender notes and pay off 5-20's in that new issue. I shall speak of the right of the government to redeem the 5-20s in the existing legal tender notes. Mr. Pendleton argued to establish the same proposition and then jumped to the conclusion that after the war is over and long after the bonds have been sold, the government has the right to issue new legal tender notes and compel her creditors to receive them in payment of her bonds. This is a non sequitur and would be a violation of the pledge given by Congress in 1864, that the whole amount of legal tender notes should never exceed four millions, and would be without any reasons of public necessity which justified their first issue. Mr. Pendleton confounded two things which are wholly different. It would be impossible to put a new issue of said notes upon the same footing in law and equity in relation to public or private debts with those issued before the bonds were sold and under the pressing necessities of war the legal tender rates although at par in contemplation of law in payment of debts are in fact worth but about seventy cents on the dollar. The first step to be taken to improve our financial condition should be to make these notes held by the people, and in which the business of the country is transacted, equal to gold. There is where gold payments should begin. It requires no argument to prove that while tuey are depreciated as they now are, it will be impossible for the government to pay the bonds or any considerable portion of them in gold and it requires no argument to prove that when the government has returnod to specie payment by bringing the legal tender notes up to par, the question of the mode of paying the bonds becomes important.

NEW YORK CITY.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, October 27, 1868.

ADDRESS OF THE REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE.

NEW YORK, October 27.—The Republican State Committee has issued an address to the people which says that the Democrats, despairing of success by any other means, now proposes to make that great safeguard of Democratic government, the ballot-box, through corruption, the means of thwarting the will of the people, and giving them the semblance of success by a system of frauds unparalleled in the history of nations. The remedy, they say, is to watch and challenge, the register failing, challenge every man at the polls whose right to vote is not well known; not only challenge, but convict, and put in prison all who offer to register or vote illegally.

The accused were arrested and held for a hearing on Friday in the sum of two thousand dollars.

Opera House.—Last evening Mr. J. H. Hackett, long a favorite of the Pittsburgh theatre-going public, appeared as "Rip Van Winkle," in the popular and romantic drama known by that title. In this character, it is not too much to say, that Mr. H. has, at this day, few equals and no superiors, and last evening fully sustained his previously established reputation. The evening's entertainment concluded with the side-splitting two act comedy, entitled "His Last Legs," Mr. Hackett as "O'Callagan." This evening Mr. H. will appear in his great character of "Sir John Fallstaff" in "Henry IV," the mere announcement of which is sufficient to insure a large attendance.

The prosecution testified that in July last she asked her husband for some money, when he attacked her and threw her on the floor, and then called to his son to come and knock her teeth down her throat. It was alleged on the part of the defense that Mrs. Babst was the attacking party, and that the accused only acted in self-defense. The jury found a verdict of not guilty, and directed that each party pay one-half the costs.

MILICIOUS MISCHIEF.

Extensive Conflagration—Presser's Glue Factory Destroyed — Five Tenement Houses Burned.

An alarm of fire struck shortly after five o'clock yesterday morning from box 48, corner of Elm street and Fifth (Pennsylvania) avenue, brought the fire department promptly to the ground. The cause of the alarm was the burning of Presser's glue factory, located a little off from the avenue on Beech alley, between Pride and Stevenson streets. The fire was first discovered in the boiler room about five o'clock, and the alarm sounded from box 52, corner of Pride street and the avenue, but for some reason the alarm was not general or distinct. The Relief engine, and the Rescue Hook and Ladder Companies heard the first alarm and were on the ground doing good service when the second alarm was struck which brought the whole department out. By this time the building was enveloped in flames. It was a frame building, resting on stone basement walls and extending back a considerable distance from the alley, the boiler and engine room forming a wing in the rear. The whole establishment together with its contents of machinery, stock, &c., &., was destroyed.

Mr. Presser's loss will amount to about $3,000, on which there is an insurance mostly covering it, in the Girard Company of Philadelphia.

Patrick Lally, an employee in the factory, occupied the front end of the basement with his family. They succeeded in saving but a small portion of their furniture and clothing, the rest falling a prey to the devouring element.

Across the alley from the factory was located the fertilizing establishment of Mr. H. B. Mills, to which the flames quickly communicated and destroyed rapidly. It was an iron-clad frame structure, one story high, and contained a large quantity of material to be worked up, besides the engine and grindng machinery. It was totally destroyed, entailing a loss on Mr. Mills of about $1,500, on which we understand there is no insurance. On the alley, near the end of the glue factory, was a one storied frame tenement house, occupiod by the family of Mr. John Mehan. It took fire early and was entirely consumed, the family succeeding, however, in saving the grealer portion of their clothing and household effects. Another double frame tenement house stood a little further down in the alley, It was occupied by the respective families of Mr. John Hughes, Mrs. Filing and Mrs. Dillon. The fire communicated to it from the fertilfzing establishment, and it was quickly a mass of cinders. Mrs. Dillon lost all of her effects, but the others succeeded in saving the most of their furniture and clothing.

The tenements were owned by a former partner of Mr. Pressers, Mr. Wm. Kuhn. The loss on them will probably reach $2,000, on which there is no insurance. They were a part of the premises connected with the factory, but at the dissolution of partnership Mr. Presser took the factory and Mr. Kuhn the houses. No cause can be assigned for the breaking out of the fire as when it was first discovered it had gained such headway as to render it impossible to discover from whence it started.

The Lost Boy.

We mentioned a few days ago that a boy giving his name as Sims Ikert, came to the Allegheny Mayor's office, stating that he had come to the city from Ohio, in quest of his aunt who resided here. The boy, after being provided with food and lodgings till the next morning, disappeared and has not been heard of since. Yesterday the Mayor received a letter from Mr. Robert Bell, of Fairfield township, Columbiana county, in regard to the lad. The writer states that he was requested by the boy's father to write to the Mayor and direct him to put the boy in the House of Refuge if possible, and if that cannot be done, to put him on the train in care of the conductor, so that he may be brought home. He is said to be ungovernable and a continual source of trouble to his parents. He left home without their knowledge, and the first intimation they had of his whereabouts was the notice of his arrival here by the city papers. If all said about him be true, he is totally unworthy of the sympathy or aid which his own story generally secures. As he was nowhere to be found, the Mayor of course could do nothing further in the matter but inform his parents of his disappearance.

Alleged Pickpocket.

Mr. Thomas Hamilton made information before the Mayor yesterday, charging Jas. McCafferty with attempting to pick a lady's pocket. It is stated that Miss Childs, in company with Mr. Hamilton, was coming out of the Opera House on Monday evening, at the conclusion of the entertainment, and when at the head of the stairway she discovered some one, as she supposed, with his hand in her pocket. She made the matter known to Mr. Hamilton, who started after the man she pointed out as the person who made the attempt, who, it appears, on being discovered, endeavored to get away as fast as possible, and followed him to the "Home" on the opposite side of the street, when he pointed him out to officer Glenn, who arrested him and took him to the lock up. After a hearing yesterday morning, McCafferty was held to bail in the sum of $500 for his appearance at Court, in default of which he was committed to jail. The accused states that he arrived here on Monday evening from Fort Scott, Kansas, on his way home to Baltimore. He is a butcher. It is stated that he was intoxicated last evening, and merely staggered against the lady.

Row Among the Colored Folks.

The centre of attraction among the colored folks of Allegheny just now is the African church on the corner of Boyle and Hemlock streets. The congregation connected with that church are holding a Fair in it for the benefit of the organization, which attracts the bon ton among them from all parts of the city. On Monday night, however, it attracted some of a different sort, who had hardly been fairly admitted to the Fair before they created a row of pretty fair proportions. The managers at once sent for the police, but when the knights of the mace arrived the disturbance had quieted down, and they were about returning bootless, when two sable gentlemen got into a dispute on the pavement, which ended in a regular encounter. They were arrested and furnished with lodgings in the lock-up for the night. The next morning they gave their names as Benjamin Jefferson and Albert Barbour. They were fined five dollars and costs, upon payment of which they were discharged.

Improvement of the Allegheny Water Works.

The large increase in the demand for water supply in Allegheny, consequent on the consolidation of the city, has rendered necessary some improvements in the Water Works, with a view of increasing their capacity. The work of improvement has been going on for some time past, under the direction of Superintendent Paul, and when completed it is estimated that the city can be supplied with over three hundred thousand additional gallons of water per diem. The main part of the labor consists in the alteration of the force pumps and the repairing and improving of the reservoir, on Troy Hill, all of which is being done at a comparatively small cost. It is expected that the works will have, when entirely finished, sufficient capacity to meet all demand for several years in the future.

Meeting at City Hall.

Pursuant to a published call a large an spirited meeting of the Republicans of the city was held in City Hall last night. The meeting was called to order by Major E. A. Montooth, who proposed the following list of officers:

President—C. B. M. Smith, Esq.

Vice Presidents—Dr. James King, Wm. Swisshelm, Joseph Hartman, John Wandlass, R. H. Fife, John McKelvey, Daniel Daub, James Owens, Geo. Hamilton, Jas. Rees, James Kelley, Joseph Shorb, John F. Kaiser.

Secretaries—Reporters of the Republican press.

Mr. Smith on taking the chair, in a brief address, thanked the meeting for the honor conferred upon him, after which he introduced Prof. Pope, who sang in his usual excellent style one of his best campaign songs.

Josiah Cohen, Esq., stated that he had just been informed that Hon. E. M. Stanton was in the city, and he moved that a Committee of Five be appointed to wait upon him and extend an invitation to him to address the meeting.

The motion was unanimously adopted, and the Chair appointed Josiah Cohen, Esq., Major E. A. Montooth, Col. W. B. Neeper, Dr. James King and Colonel W. A. Herron, on the Committee.

The Chair then introduced Hon. Thomas Howard, who addressed the meeting ably and eloquently. He spoke for nearly two hours, during which he was greeted with enthusiastic applause from the vast audience.

At the conclusion of Mr. Howard's remarks, Major Montooth, from the Committee appointed to wait upon Mr. Stanton, reported that the Committee found Mr. Stanton at the Monongahela House, where he had arrived during the afternoon, but that in consequence of a slight indisposition it would be impossible for him to comply with the request of the Committee to address the meeting at that time. Major Montooth further stated that the Committee h ped to be able to have Mr. Stanton address a meeting in City Hall during his sojourn in the city.

The Keystone Glee Club was then introduced by the Chairman, and favored the audience with one of its excellent songs.

Seth T. Hurd, Esq., of the Brownsville Clipper, being loudly called for was introkuced, and delivered one of his forcible, argumentative and witty addresses, which was highly applauded by the audience.

The meeting then adjourned with three cheers for Grant and Colfax.

Children's Cloaks, full assortment. Bates & Bell's.

Two More--Incendiary Work.

The number of fires occurring in our midst at the present time seems singular, and can hardly be accounted for on any other supposition than that the villainous work of the incendiary is being carried on amongst us. Thanks, however, to the prompt efficiency of our noble fire department, with but few exceptions the fires have been controlled and kept down with little loss to property, life or limb. If it be that the many slight fires, which we have been called upon to chronicle, are the work of incendiaries, every effort should be put forth to ferret out the villains and bring them to punishment, While the fire on Pennsylvania avenue, noticed elsewhere, was progressing yesterday morning, smoke was seen issuing from the roof of the building occupied by Mr. Louis Bowerwitz, as a liquor store in the vicinity. An alarm was struck from Box 36, corner of Fifth avenue and High street. The fire was a very slight one, and was extinguished without any great damage being done.

About an hour later, at half-past six o'clock, another alarm was sounded from Box 26, corner of Grant and Diamond streets, which was promptly answered by the fire department. The alarm was caused by a fire discovered in the addition now being erected in the rear of Kuhn's law building. This fire was certainly the work of an incendiary, as the shavings in one of the rooms were scraped together, and a match applied. It was quickly extinguished, and the damage was slight.
